At this point the list continues from the top of the next piece of parchment which has been badly damaged. Also, the first few names have faded so as to be illegible. The above list totals 248 hearths, whereas the list for Lady Day 1665 contained 260 hearths. There are therefore about 12 hearths missing, and probably 6 or more names.

The title of the next district is also missing, but by comparison with the names in the Militia Assessments can be positively identified as that shown below. From the total at the end of the list it is obvious that there are 7 hearths missing, and between 1 and 7 names.
