

11 November 1935 Goodrich armistice Day parade

Only seventeen years after the cessation of hostilities in November 1918, there must have been many people in Goodrich who well remembered those whose names are on the memorial tablet in the church and on the war memorial in the village near the village hall. The colour photograph shows the memorial tablet in the church on the hundredth anniversary of the armistice. The 1935 photographs show the procession to the war memorial passing near the school, many of the villagers taking part. The photographer is unknown

Those with Goodrich antecedents may recognise family members. Below is the church memorial tablet on 11 November 2018.
